

Barbara A.B. Horrell, M.S.

NAMME President's Award

Barbra A.B. Horrell is the Director of Student Recruitment-Retention at University of College of Veterinary Medicine, Missouri-Columbia. Her responsibilities include, but are not limited to, coordination of student recruitment (both undergraduate colleges and high schools) throughout the state and nationally, communications with advisors for student recruitment and admissions, development and coordination of minority recruitment activities within the University for the Colleges of Veterinary Medicine.

In addition to the above professional experience, Mrs. Horrell has experience as the Senior Principal for Horrell and Associates, Inc., Columbia, Missouri. In this capacity she was involved with management and organizational development (consultant, seminar leader and presenter) focusing on development of the diverse workforce through intercultural, multicultural and cross-cultural experiences and skill building.

Throughout her career, Barbra received many honors, among these were: American Society for Training and Development Trainer of the Year, National Torch Winner for Outstanding Contributions to community and nation, Who's Who in Black Women of America, National Director, American Association of Medical Colleges, Student Affairs Regional Director, American Association of Medical College, Panelist – Minority Health Grants (HCOP), Staff Diversity Enhancement Award, Dean's Impact Award – College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Missouri, Columbia, St. Louis Sentinel Newspaper "Yes I Can Award", Xavier University of New Orleans and Lifetime Award for Excellence.

Barbra is happily married to her husband David and has one son. Darren Horrell.

Barbara Horrell has worked diligently year after year to make certain that the NAMME National Conference and Board meetings are effective, efficient and well planned (along with other convention planning committee members, of course). She negotiates with tenacity, giving full consideration to the fiscal status of NAMME as an organization when developing relationships with hotel/city convention planners. For her undying devotion and dedication to NAMME Barbra Horrell is hereby selected to receive the NAMME annual President's Award.

2006 Awards Ceremony
Las Vegas, Nevada
September 22, 2006